HELSE STAVANGER
Stavanger universitetssjukehus

Klinikk for medisinsk service og ABK - Avdeling for medisinsk biokjemi

CERTIFICATE

Date: 02.11.26

Malaria parasites are not endemic to Norway, and it is therefore not possible to get infected with malaria parasites in Norway. There is no indication for screening healthy people travelling abroad from Norway.

However, if a patient has recently been to a country where malaria is endemic, they will be tested if they experience fever or other relevant symptoms.

Kind regards,

Børge Førland Gjøse
Overlege
Stavanger Universitetssjukehus
Helse Stavanger HF
HPR-nr.: 7080 417

Dr. Børge Førland Gjøse

Infectious disease specialist

Stavanger University Hospital

Norway